ADA NSW PRESIDENT GETS A SECOND TERM

The Australian Dental Association NSW (ADA NSW) is proud to announce the reappointment of Dr Dominic Aouad for a second consecutive term as President. Joining him is Dr Jodie Olivier, who has also been re-elected as Vice President.

Dr Aouad is a highly accomplished general dentist and partner at his own practice in Sydney. In addition to his role as President, he serves as a Board Director and previously held the position of Vice President in 2022-23. Dr Aouad also chaired the Filling the Gap dental charity and has previously served the Dental Council of NSW, as both a professional officer and an authorised person. His extensive involvement in ADA committees highlights his dedication to advancing the profession.

Dr Aouad holds a Master of Business Administration (MBA) and co-founded Dental Compliance Australia, a company committed to enhancing compliance and patient outcomes across the dental sector. In recognition of his leadership during the COVID-19 pandemic, he was awarded the ADA Valuable Service Award for effectively communicating critical policy and regulatory changes to the profession. Additionally, Dr Aouad is a graduate of the Australian Institute of Company Directors (GAICD), further cementing his reputation as a strategic leader.

"I am deeply honoured to continue leading ADA NSW as we elevate our member services and work towards empowering the dental profession and improving oral health outcomes," Dr Aouad said.

He added, "I look forward working again closely with a Dr Jodie Olivier, the Board, our committees, CEO Ms Jae Redden, and the management team to further advance oral health and the future of our profession."

ADA NSW extends its heartfelt congratulations to Dr Aouad and Dr Olivier on their well-deserved reappointments. We are confident in their continued leadership and vision.
